Part one: Reading   (14 points)

Read the text carefully to do the following activities

On the shores of the Mediterranean, Tipaza was an ancient Punic trading-post conquered by Rome and turned into a strategic base for the conquest of the kingdom of Mauretania. It comprises a unique group of Phoenician, Roman and Byzantine ruins alongside indigenous monuments such as 'Kbor er Roumia'', the great royal mausoleum of Mauretania.

Tipaza regroups one of the most extraordinary archaeological sites of the Maghreb. It is perhaps the most significant area to study the contacts between the indigenous civilizations and the different waves of colonization from the 6th century B.C. to the 6th century A.D. During this period, Tipaza played the role of a maritime port of call, a place for commercial exchanges. The Roman period is marked by prestigious buildings, comprising very diversified architectural styles. The Vandal invasion of the 430's did not mark the definitive end of prosperity of Tipaza, but the town gradually fell into ruins after it had been reconquered by the Byzantines in 531 A.D.

The boundary for the three sites of Tipaza has been clarified and approved by the World Heritage Committee. It includes vestiges that show the exceptional town-planning, architectural, historic and archaeological values of the site. However, the latter has become vulnerable due to the impact of urban development, unregulated tourism, lack of conservation and uncontrolled visitor access.

الموضوع الثاني

Part One: Reading   (14 points)
Read the text carefully to do the following activities.

The young are the first victims of corruption in education, and this can affect the integrity and dignity of the person for life, as well as society at large. The social investment in future citizens fails when individuals can succeed dishonestly and without merit, increasing the number of incompetent future leaders and professionals. Not only society but even human life can be endangered by fake or untrained doctors, judges or engineers, or by poor quality scientific research carried out by corrupt academics.

Corruption in education most affects the poor and the disadvantaged, particularly women and minorities, who are unable to pay bribes for admissions or success. In areas such as rural Cameroon, students lose three school days per month due to absent teachers. The poor are also the least equipped to challenge corrupt behaviour. Whether the corrupt classroom kills ambition or children are forced to leave education altogether, vulnerable members of society lose the opportunity to realise their dreams and social inequality is maintained.

Corruption in education is particularly harmful in that it encourages a social acceptance of corruption at the earliest age. As young people rarely have the ability to question the rules of the classroom, they can internalise corrupt views of what it takes to succeed, and carry these forward into society. When this becomes a social norm, its cycle begins again in each generation.
